

Words of Welcome from the Chairman of Organizing Committee

It is with the greatest pleasure that we welcome you to the Seventh International Conference on Information Networks, Systems and Technologies (ICINASTe'01) to be held in Minsk - the capital of Belarus. You have a wonderful chance to meet with your colleagues and discuss new scientific results.

The specialists from 15 different countries - the representatives of about 60 universities and big scientific centres - take part in our Conference. We hope that the Conference has become a one more step for development of scientific co-operation between these countries. The Conference Organizers did their best to create the right conditions for the fruitful information exchange between the participants.

The main goal of this Conference to our mind is the development of co-operation in different educational and scientific spheres. We preserve these traditions at ICINASTe'01 - the fourth Conference on the some problems in new conditions of information and civilization.

The main results of the Conference are presented in the Proceedings of the Conference. I would like to thank all the authors for their efforts in preparing interesting papers and I hope that you will enjoy your participation in the Conference and your stay in Minsk.

We thank all who have worked so hard to make it a success. We hope that you will experience an interesting conference and find many occasions to refresh old contacts and establish new ones. I hope that this Conference will let us to wide our knowledge, to strengthen the contacts and will stimulate our researches and increase an optimism.

I wish you, Dear Colleagues, every success and good creative work.
